Topic: Optune for GBM

Renae Adams BSN, RN
Thought Leader Liaison
Novocure

Renae is a registered nurse with over 18 years of oncology experience. She began her career working as a nurse in the ICU and quickly found that oncology was her passion. For the next 12 years, she worked in an outpatient oncology nurse providing education, infusion and support to patients undergoing treatment for cancers of all kinds.

In 2013, Renae realized that education that resulted in better care and outcomes for patients was the part of oncology nursing she loved most and transitioned into a Nurse educator role, and found particular joy in educating health care professionals and patients within the rare cancer space.

In 2017, she found a role that combined her passion for rare cancers, patient and healthcare provider education, and clinical science in the Thought Leader Liaison role with Novocure, specializing in Glioblastoma. Being given the opportunity to interact with medical professionals, patients and their caregivers, while alleviating the concerns and answering questions about tumor treating fields, is a unique opportunity that makes a difference in the lives of those dealing with a very complex disease.
